FOURTH EDITION

Signs, signs, everywhere SIGNS
All over to confuse my mind
What do they mean, these signs?

Buildings, dorms,
Activities, forms
Is this the norm?

Big and small
On every wall
Where will I fall?

I paid my bill
Drove up the Hill
Will I be fulfilled?

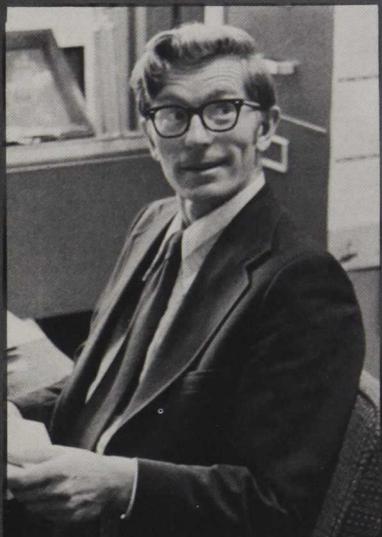

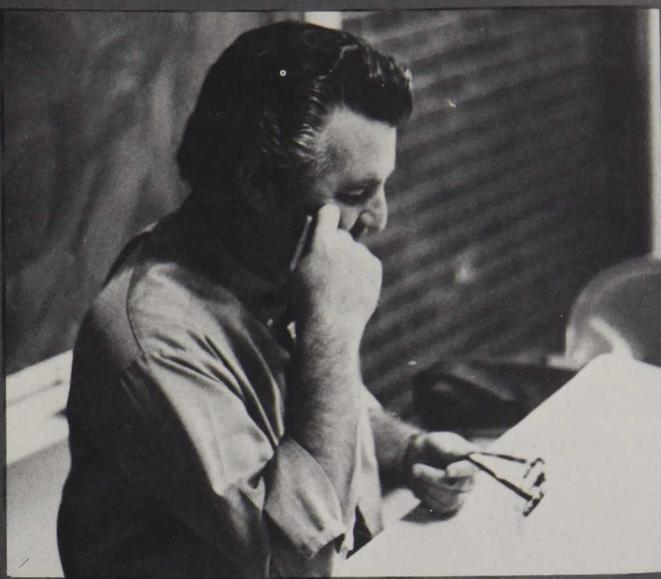

Signs, signs, everywhere SIGNS
Will they improve my mind?
Is this the place and time?

H. Franklin Irwin, Jr.
President

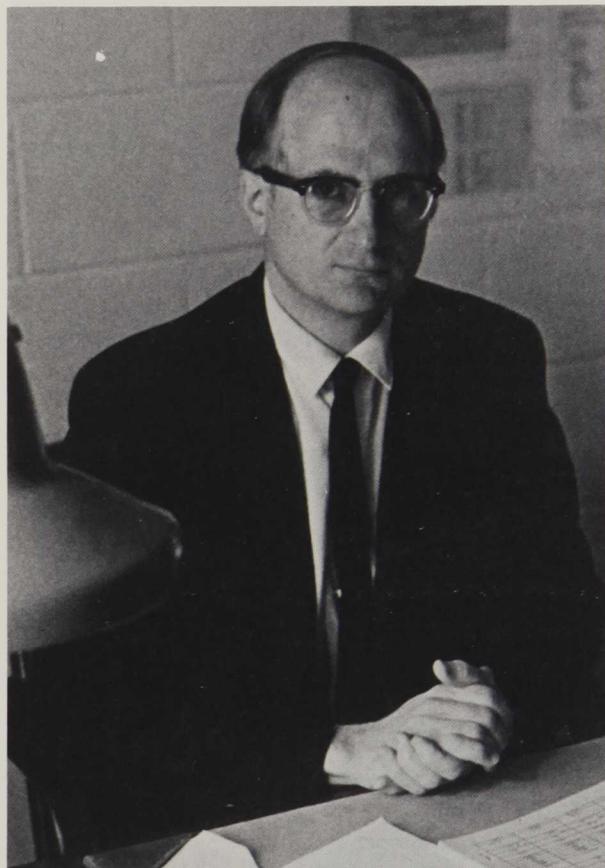

TO THE CLASS OF 1975:

You and I arrived at Lyndon together; for that reason you were dubbed the President's Class. We both have experienced and learned much in the past four years. May we continue to learn from the lessons of experience.

SENIORS

... And now, let us marry ourselves to life, to those things in the outside world of reality. Let us strive to perform to the utmost in our quest for those life-long goals for which our basic education here at Lyndon has prepared us. As we now look back on the years we have known Lyndon, we pray thee, Lord, for guidance; that our ways in the future may be as rightious as our days in the past have been rewarding. Amen.

It's Been four great years
Since I first drove up that hill,
All the signs are there still,
But no longer the fears.

The stereos loud and living in a suite,
Spring Day, Winter Weekend, parties couldn't be beat,
Classes in the morning at eight
And doing papers the night before, late.

I learned and I shared
And I basically cared,
I grew and I gave
And I spent and I saved.

And now as we part
Let's remember the start
When we saw all the signs,
We have improved our minds.
